

COMMUNICATION: ADVOCACY & ACTIVISM, BA

General Communication Degree Description:

Communication is an interdisciplinary field that draws from the humanities, social sciences, and sciences. The undergraduate Communication program focuses on the theoretical, critical, and empirical examination of fundamental communication systems, institutions, processes, and effects. Communication majors gain deep insight into how communication shapes our individual and collective social, political, economic, and cultural lives; both historical and contemporary, local and global. Our majors learn and employ a range of theories and research methods, including quantitative approaches such as survey research, experiments, content analysis, and computational science; and qualitative approaches such as historical, textual and discourse analysis, focus groups, and ethnographic fieldwork. In doing so, they produce scholarship that is rigorous, relevant, and multi-modal.

The major in Communication is granted by the College of Arts and Sciences, but the 14-credit major curriculum is designed, administered, and taught by the Annenberg School for Communication.

Majors may complete an optional concentration. Effective Fall 2020, Communication concentrations are as follows: Advocacy & Activism; Audiences & Persuasion; Culture & Society; Data & Network Science; and Politics & Policy. Alternatively, students may also choose to enroll in the Communication and Public Service (ComPS) program. Students interested in pursuing one of these concentrations or ComPS should make an appointment to meet with a member of the Communication Undergraduate Advising Team (<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/undergraduate-program/online-advising-appointments/>).

See separate details on requirements for a Communication major concentration (<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/undergraduate-program/communication-major-requirements/concentrations/>) or the Communication and Public Service program (<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/undergraduate-program/communication-major-requirements/concentrations/communication-and-public-service-comps-program/>).

Communication students with a concentration complete the 14-credit major curriculum, including a total of 5 courses required to complete a concentration. Of the 5 courses required to complete a concentration, 3 courses are COMM courses, and 2 courses are non-COMM elective courses. A list of approved COMM Advocacy and Activism concentration courses can be found on the Annenberg School for Communication website (<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/undergraduate/courses/?term=All&faculty=All&concentration=31>). Non-COMM elective courses require pre-approval from a member of the Communication Undergraduate Advising Team (<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/undergraduate-program/online-advising-appointments/>). Students may only complete one concentration.

In addition to concentrations, the Communication curriculum also offers opportunities for thesis research (<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/undergraduate-program/academic-opportunities/communication-thesis/>), i (<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/academics/undergraduate-program/curriculum-and-major-requirements/independent-study/independent-study/>) and independent study (<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/undergraduate-program/academic-opportunities/independent-study/>), internships

(<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/undergraduate-program/academic-opportunities/internship-opportunities-policies/>), study abroad (<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/undergraduate-program/academic-opportunities/study-abroad-transfer-credit/>), and public service (<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/undergraduate-program/academic-opportunities/annenberg-public-service/>) (through the Communication and Public Service Program).

Advocacy & Activism

Courses in this Concentration focus on the intersection of communication and social justice. Through this concentration students will explore vital communication-related questions about socio-political power, protest, and progress. Courses explore media institutions and the past, present, and evolving techniques and technologies of protest and social movements. Sample courses include: Media Activism Studies; Ethnography and Media for Social Justice; Global Digital Activism; Communication, Activism, and Social Change; and Digital Inequality.

The minimum total course units (<https://www.college.upenn.edu/credits-needed-major/>) for graduation in this major is 34. Double majors may entail more course units.

Students must meet the following minimum course and GPA requirements as a condition of application to the major. Students may submit the application for the major after enrollment in the third required course. Meeting these requirements is not a guarantee of admission to the major.

The deadline for declaring the major, declaring a concentration, changing a concentration, and/or removing a concentration is the last day to add a course in the students' final semester.
