

COMMUNICATION: GENERAL COMMUNICATION, BA

General Communication Degree Description:

Communication is an interdisciplinary field that draws from the humanities, social sciences, and sciences. The undergraduate Communication program focuses on the theoretical, critical, and empirical examination of fundamental communication systems, institutions, processes, and effects. Communication majors gain deep insight into how communication shapes our individual and collective social, political, economic, and cultural lives; both historical and contemporary, local and global. Our majors learn and employ a range of theories and research methods, including quantitative approaches such as survey research, experiments, content analysis, and computational science; and qualitative approaches such as historical, textual and discourse analysis, focus groups, and ethnographic fieldwork. In doing so, they produce scholarship that is rigorous, relevant, and multi-modal.

The major in Communication is granted by the College of Arts and Sciences, but the 14-credit major curriculum is designed, administered, and taught by the Annenberg School for Communication.

Majors may complete an optional concentration. Effective Fall 2020, Communication concentrations are as follows: Advocacy & Activism; Audiences & Persuasion; Culture & Society; Data & Network Science; and Politics & Policy. Alternatively, students may also choose to enroll in the Communication and Public Service (ComPS) program. Students interested in pursuing one of these concentrations or ComPS should make an appointment to meet with a member of the Communication Undergraduate Advising Team (<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/undergraduate-program/online-advising-appointments/>).

See separate details on requirements for a Communication major concentration (<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/undergraduate-program/communication-major-requirements/concentrations/>) or the Communication and Public Service program (<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/undergraduate-program/communication-major-requirements/concentrations/communication-and-public-service-comps-program/>).

In addition to concentrations, the Communication curriculum also offers opportunities for thesis research (<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/undergraduate-program/academic-opportunities/communication-thesis/>), independent study (<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/undergraduate-program/academic-opportunities/independent-study/>), internships (<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/undergraduate-program/academic-opportunities/internship-opportunities-policies/>), study abroad (<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/undergraduate-program/academic-opportunities/study-abroad-transfer-credit/>), and public service (<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/undergraduate-program/academic-opportunities/annenberg-public-service/>) (through the Communication and Public Service Program).

The minimum total course units (<https://www.college.upenn.edu/credits-needed-major/>) for graduation in the major is 34. Double majors may entail more course units.

Students must meet the following minimum course and GPA requirements as a condition of application to the major. Students may submit the application for the major after enrollment in the third required course. Meeting these requirements is not a guarantee of admission to the major.

The deadline for declaring the major, declaring a concentration, changing a concentration, and/or removing a concentration is the last day to add a course in the students' final semester.
