

CREATIVE WRITING, MINOR

Creative Writing is the study of writing and literature with an emphasis on cultivating students' own approach to craft. Students can choose from a range of workshops in fiction, creative nonfiction, poetry, screenwriting, playwriting, or journalism, all of which expose them to a range of writing in the field and give them opportunities to craft their own original work. Students can minor in Creative Writing by completing four workshop courses and two courses in the study of literature.

Journalistic Writing is the study of nonfiction writing and literature with an emphasis on cultivating students' own skills in reporting, editing, interviewing, investigative journalism, media scholarship, and writing for a range of platforms. Students can minor in Journalistic Writing by completing six workshop courses in journalism and creative nonfiction, including one required course in long-form journalism.

For more information: <http://writing.upenn.edu/cw/>

Code	Title	Course Units
Minor Requirements
Creative Writing Workshops
	Select 4 course units of Creative Writing Workshop courses	4
Literary Writing in the English Language
	Select 2 course units of Literary Writing in the English Language courses ¹	2
Total Course Units		6

¹ 1 course unit may be taken in the literature of a language other than English.

The degree and major requirements displayed are intended as a guide for students entering in the Fall of 2018 and later. Students should consult with their academic program regarding final certifications and requirements for graduation.
