

RUSSIAN AND EAST EUROPEAN STUDIES: HISTORY, POLITICS AND SOCIETY, BA

The major in Russian and East European Studies provides a program of study that enables a broad multi-disciplinary and multi-cultural understanding of the languages, literatures, cultures, histories, and societies of Russia, Central and Eastern European, and the Balkan and Baltic regions. For the language requirement, students can choose any regional language offered at Penn (i.e. Bosnian/Croatian/Serbian, Hungarian, Polish, Russian, Ukrainian) or in which they can demonstrate an equivalent proficiency. In addition to linguistic flexibility, the major allows students to pursue their specific disciplinary interests through three concentrations: Language, Literature, and Culture; History, Politics, and Society; and Cinema, Arts, and Letters. Majors are encouraged to complete a summer or semester abroad to gain first-hand understanding of the communities they study and to advance their language competency. The major offers an honors option.

Knowledge of Russian and East European languages and cultures is a marketable and impressive skill, whether you are in academia, arts, law, medicine, governmental service, public interest, business, or politics. Russian and East European majors and minors land jobs in a variety of settings. They go on to work in business as financial and policy analysts for American and foreign companies. They work for NGOs, publishing houses, or the media. They teach abroad and consult in marketing, advertising, aerospace, or computer engineering. And, of course, some work as educators in universities and schools and as employees of the US government.

The minimum total course units (<https://www.college.upenn.edu/credits-needed-major/>) for graduation in this major is 32. Double majors may entail more course units.

For more information: <http://ccat.sas.upenn.edu/slavic> (<http://ccat.sas.upenn.edu/slavic/>)

For information about the General Education requirements, please visit the College of Arts & Sciences Curriculum (<https://www.college.upenn.edu/curriculum/>) page.

Code	Title	Course Units
College General Education Requirements and Free Electives
Foundational Approaches + Sectors ¹ + Free Electives		20
Major Requirements
Russian and East European Studies Core
REES 0010	Central and Eastern Europe: Cultures, Histories, Societies	1
Concentration Requirements²
Select 7 courses ^{3,4,5}		7
Electives
Select 4 Electives ^{3,4,5}		4
Total Course Units		32

- ¹ You may count no more than one course toward both a Major and a Sector requirement. For Exceptions, check the Policy Statement (<http://www.college.upenn.edu/sectors-policy/>).
- ² Students take seven REES courses* with history, political science, and other social sciences content. 4000-level or 5000-level (or equivalent) content-based language courses may be counted towards this requirement. * Note that some REES courses (defined as those with RUSS and EEUR course numbers) are offered through Penn Language Center (PLC) (<http://plc.sas.upenn.edu/>)
- ³ Chronological, Disciplinary, and Geographical requirements must be met with concentration and free elective courses.
- ⁴ Students must take at least one broad survey course that covers the period before 1800, one that covers the period before 1900 and one that covers the period after 1900 to fulfill the Chronological Distribution requirement.
- ⁵ Students must take at least one course with historical content, one with political science content, and one with other social sciences (such as economics or sociology) content to fulfill the Disciplinary Distribution requirement.

Honors

Applicants must have a minimum overall 3.3 and a GPA of 3.6 in the major.

Code	Title	Course Units
REES 4998	Honors Thesis	1.0

The degree and major requirements displayed are intended as a guide for students entering in the Fall of 2024 and later. Students should consult with their academic program regarding final certifications and requirements for graduation.